Market Opportunity

The global specialty tea market is projected to grow at 6.2% CAGR through 2030, with rooibos and honeybush positioned as premium health teas. South African macadamia exports have increased by over 30% in the past five years, driven by Chinese and US demand.

ShellNest is positioned to capture this growth by combining collaborative producer relationships, certified quality partnerships, and export compliance knowledge. Our lean operating model allows competitive pricing while maintaining premium quality.

Competitive Advantages

Direct relationships: Building directly with farming communities means better farm-gate prices and verified provenance. Our buyers know exactly where their products come from.

Compliance expertise: We navigate EU, US FDA, UK DEFRA, and Asian import regulations, removing barriers for first-time buyers.

Flexible supply: From sample orders to FCL container loads, we serve boutique importers and large-scale distributors alike.
